

Cookie Policy

Version v0.1 · Last updated June 2026 · Hannu Technologies Limited (in formation)

Draft — pending legal counsel review. This document reflects Hannu’s intended practice and is grounded in the Nigeria Data Protection Act 2023 and the NDPC GAID 2025. It is not yet a binding agreement; the ratified version will replace it without changing where it is published.

This Cookie Policy explains how Hannu uses cookies and similar technologies on hannu.africa, and how you control them. It should be read with our Privacy Policy. Consistent with NDPC GAID 2025 (Article 19), non-essential cookies are used only with your consent.

01 What cookies are

Cookies are small files stored on your device. Similar technologies include local storage and pixels. They let a site remember your actions and preferences, measure performance, and support marketing.

02 The categories we use

Strictly necessary — required for the site to function, including security, load balancing, and remembering your cookie choices and sign-in. These are exempt from consent and cannot be switched off.

Analytics — help us understand, in aggregate, which pages are useful and where the experience breaks. We do not use analytics to identify you personally.

Marketing — let us measure campaigns and present relevant information about Hannu on other sites. Off unless you turn them on.

03 Your choice and how to change it

On your first visit we ask for consent before setting any non-essential cookie. No boxes are pre-ticked, and refusing is as easy as accepting. You can change your choice at any time using the “Cookie settings” link in our footer, which reopens the preference centre.

You can also block or delete cookies in your browser settings; some features may then not work as intended.

04 How long cookies last

Session cookies expire when you close your browser; persistent cookies last for a defined period. Your consent record is kept for up to 180 days, after which we will ask again.

05 Changes and contact

We keep the categories in this policy in step with our consent tool, and will re-request consent if they materially change. Questions: privacy@hannu.africa.
